

Meet Our Former Interns

What does one think of while looking for the best internship opportunity? Best team, good management, a known organisation, an astonishing mentor? What if I say that I had them all!

I have learnt a lot as a designer, and augmented my practical knowledge on elements and principles of design. Thinking about how to represent text heavy knowledge visually was a task that I really enjoyed working on, and it has helped me in broadening my creative thinking skills.

I can proudly say that I wouldn't have found a better internship opportunity!

During my internship, I worked on a nutrition costing study which aimed at estimating the cost of delivering a set of 15 nutrition interventions in India. Along with that, I got the chance to contribute to several other projects.

This internship was one of my best experiences and I got great, firsthand exposure to research work. Not only did I learn so much, but also met some of the best mentors and colleagues there. Even till date, they continue to resolve my queries and assist me when I turn to them for help.

The Accountability Initiative was my first work experience and I consider it to be a very valuable one.

Throughout the course of my internship, I have learnt a lot of things. I was provided with certain tasks every day which I had to timely execute. Since I was working on a learning course, I was given research documents and asked to interpret these in a more illustrative manner. My guides used to explain the content, which helped make the task easy.

My key takeaway is the awareness that my interest in governmental activities and current affairs has grown. Previously, I was a person who avoided civics class in school!
